

As an ordinary working class man, I feel I am getting poor and poor because there are so many hands coming to my wallet every minute and every day. life is difficult. The only enjoyment I can have is to lock up myself in my apartment for having a sense of quietness. So, please don't disturb me and don't rip off my tiny bit of happiness, which is all I can have. The bank is rich already (by charging those ridiculous fees). These days, whenever I see these big, beautiful bank buildings, I can see those small, bad shape houses in many places of cities and rural communities. I feel something is not right.
